▶ Milltech

Countless projects covering many millions of square metres around the world have proven the remarkable durability of mill-finish aluminium. Now enhanced, strengthened and improved, new Mill-Tech use all the expertise and lessons learned over the past four decades, to present you with a product unequalled in its price competitiveness and unsurpassed in its durability. Whether it is the price competitiveness of its up-front cost, or its unbelievably low maintenance requirement, its resale value on demolition of the building, 40 years of case histories, the savings in erection costs or the detailed life cycle NPV calculation, Mill-Tech stands alone in its ability to offer property investors returns which are simply not possible with substitute products. Mill-Tech is truly practical. We stand up to the harshest climates, and take knocks and scratches during erection that cost other products their aesthetic appeal. The reflectivity of Mill-Tech improves the thermal efficiency of the building, reducing cooling and heating loads, saving money, saving energy... Mill-Tech is by far the most cost-effective way of ensuring that a building has the optimum protection against the effects of corrosion.
